MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

FROM :

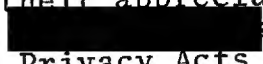

STATINTL

VIA : Chief, Intelligence Institute

SUBJECT : End-of-Course Report: Introduction to CIA
(Number 3: 27 October - 5 November 1976)

1. The third session of Introduction to CIA opened on 26 October and concluded on 5 November 1976. Student interest and participation remained high throughout the nine days, and with a few minor exceptions, all of the briefings were very well received. Based on the class written and oral evaluations and on the course chairmen's observations, the 29 students received a very worthwhile and effective introduction to the missions and functions of the Central Intelligence Agency.

2. This session was similar to the previous two runnings in design and in administration. The functional approach to CIA's missions and organization again proved to be a highly effective means of explaining the Agency's complex activities. One of the highlights was the evening session which was attended by the majority of the students, many of whom brought their wives. The attendees--particularly the wives--stated their appreciation for the evening social, and commented that  presentation on the Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts was very beneficial and enjoyable. The evening session, which may be the first that OTR has sponsored for new and directly hired professional employees and their spouses, will be repeated in the upcoming course.

STATINTL

3. In response to whether the course met the two stated objectives, the class assigned an overall rating of 6.1 [based on a 1 (lowest) to 7 (highest) scale]. This response is very positive given the fact that the student population consisted of new professional employees who had little choice about attending the course, and who probably had high expectations. The various subjects related to the

"Intelligence Cycle" triggered the most student interest. Specifically, the presentations covering covert, overt, and technical collection were frequently rated by the class as "most useful." In addition, the class expressed keen interest in the analysis of raw data and production of finished intelligence, and many concurred with our plans to expand coverage of this area in future runnings.

INTRODUCTION TO CIA

Course Objectives

A member of the Introduction to CIA Course is expected to:

1. Gain a basic understanding of CIA, its organization and functions, as well as its relationship to the Intelligence Community; and
2. Acquire an understanding of the fundamentals of the intelligence process.

Tuesday, 26 October 1976

9:00-9:30

Introduction to the Course

[REDACTED]
Intelligence
Institute,
Office of Training
Administration
Directorate

25X1A

The Staff will discuss the objectives and the structure of the course, and outline administrative procedures.

9:30-9:45

Class IntroductionsClass and Staff

An important element of this course is the opportunity for all participants to share past experiences. We hope that many of you will call on the friends and contacts made over the next two weeks in carrying out your future responsibilities.

9:45-10:45

Missions and Functions of CIA

[REDACTED]
Chief, Intelligence
and Midcareer Branch, Intelligence
Institute,
Office of Training

25X1A

The course begins with a broad overview of the intelligence process. [REDACTED] will survey the overt and covert means of collection, and the collation and analysis of this raw data. He will then describe the various types of production, including political, biographic, economic, military, scientific and technical. Later in the course, these elements will be discussed in greater detail.

25X1A

11:00-12:00

Small Discussion Groups:
What do I want to know about the CIA?

The class will meet in small groups to share the images of the CIA that they brought into the Agency, and the questions they would like to have addressed in this course about the structure, missions, and administration of the Agency.

12:00-1:00

LUNCH

1:00-1:45

Reporting Session

Class and Staff

The class will exchange information surfaced during the preceding small group meetings. The Staff will record your questions and special concerns and alert guest speakers to your particular interests.

CIA AND ITS EMPLOYEES

In this section of the course, we will focus on you as employees. We will discuss your responsibilities to the Agency, and the various types of assistance and services available to you. Representatives from the Offices of Personnel, Medical Services, Training, and Security, will describe their on-going programs. In addition, problems involving the Inspector General's Office and Equal Employment Opportunity will be reviewed.

1:45-2:45

Personnel Management

Office of Personnel

25X1A

Personnel people serve your career needs from the time you enter on duty until your retirement. A representative of the Office of Personnel will comment on current trends in the Agency's approach to personnel management, including recent changes in the career service structure and the impact of "management by objectives" on personnel administration.

3:00-4:00

Equal Employment Opportunity

Omego J.C. Ware
Director, Equal Employment
Opportunity,
Office of the DCI

During this session our speaker will discuss CIA's program for assuring equal employment opportunity, and the progress to date toward raising the level of minority employment. In addition, the complaint system for those who feel they have been discriminated against because of race, color, religion, sex, age, or national origin, will be explained.

Wednesday, 27 October 1976

8:30-9:15      Reading Period

This is the first of five scheduled periods for individual reading--not enough time for you to digest every article in your notebook. We have listed in the schedule the publications that would be most beneficial to you and hope that you will take the time to at least scan the remaining literature. If you need extra time, please feel free to come in early in the morning, stay after the afternoon presentations, or even to drop in during the weekend.

Suggested Reading:
